Problem: docs for RC are published to 'beta' directory

Solution: publish tagged builds to 'rc' directory

This patch is a temporary solution to the problem. We will need to make this machinery more robust before we start publishing GA builds and new betas with 3.1. This effort is being tracked as <https://pulp.plan.io/issues/4853>

History

#1 - 05/15/2019 04:37 PM - bmbouter

What urls should the RC docs live at?

#2 - 05/15/2019 04:42 PM - dkliban@redhat.com

pulpcore RC docs currently live at <https://docs.pulpproject.org/en/3.0/beta/> but we don't have a site for pulpcore-plugin

Thanks, I didn't realize that. I rewrote the issue to be for adding it for pulpcore-plugin.

I think we need to groom+add to sprint so we can be ready for rc2 release on Monday.
