Description Description of problem: If a repo is published over http/https and the relative URL is later changed and the repo republished, the old relative URL still exists (although not everything published it still there, seems like only the listing files and the folders are left).  Version-Release number of selected component (if applicable): 2.4.0  How reproducible: Easily  Steps to Reproduce: 1. Create repo with relative URL RHEL 2. pulp-admin rpm repo publish run --repo-id RHEL 3. pulp-admin rpm repo update --relative-url RedHat --repo-id RHEL 4. pulp-admin rpm repo publish run --repo-id RHEL 5. Check the available folders at <server>/pulp/repos  Actual results: Both folders RHEL and RedHat exist.  Expected results: Only the RedHat folder should remain. Fixed, along with 671 here:

verified

[root@qe-blade-13 ~]# rpm -qa pulp-server
pulp-server-2.6.1-1.el6.noarch
[root@qe-blade-13 ~]#

#6 - 09/16/2015 05:07 PM - chandlermelton

- Status changed from 6 to NEW

I am seeing this issue using 2.6.3-1.

If I update a relative-url then republish the repo, the old directory is still there, but empty.

- Triaged changed from Yes to No

Sending this back to triage to match its NEW state.

#9 - 09/18/2015 07:55 PM - amacdona@redhat.com

- Assignee deleted (amacdona@redhat.com)

- Platform Release changed from 2.6.1 to 2.6.5

This one was not fixed by https://github.com/pulp/pulp\_rpm/pull/648 as I originally thought it would be, but it can be fixed using the same machinery. It just needs to be called on update as well as delete.

#10 - 10/22/2015 04:09 PM - dkliban@redhat.com

- Platform Release changed from 2.6.5 to 2.6.6

#11 - 11/06/2015 06:10 PM - dkliban@redhat.com

- Platform Release deleted (2.6.6)

#12 - 05/03/2016 10:25 PM - jlambert121

This is still an issue in 2.8.2 as well.

#13 - 05/27/2016 04:29 PM - ipanova@redhat.com

- Has duplicate Issue #1946: pulp-admin rpm repo update --relative-url doesn't clean up after itself added

#14 - 05/31/2016 03:57 PM - kfiresmith

+1 - still a problem in 2.8.3. I'd love to see this get sorted because I'm not really sure how to clean it up manually in the mean time.

#15 - 07/10/2018 11:34 AM - Poil

Same problem with 2.16.1
