Description

The v2 endpoint that Pulp exposes for {root}/collections/{namespace}/{name}/ does not match up with what Galaxy actual exposes for a collection. I've attached an image that shows the response that galaxy returns (galaxy-v2) and what Pulp returns (pulp-v2).

This API is not currently used by 'ansible-galaxy collection install' but there is a PR that will change that <https://github.com/ansible/ansible/pull/71904>. This will rely on the 'modified' field to determine if a collection version list has been updated or not and whether it should retrieve the list of versions again. Right now this caching mechanism won't work as there is no 'modified' field to check against.
