Description
Looks like there are at least two (pulp/pulp and pulp/pulp_docker).

History

Those two are currently on travis-ci.org which is going to be shutdown at the end of the year. I believe the pulp/pulp one is used only for docs. <https://github.com/pulp/pulp/blob/2-master/.travis.yml> and we use it once in a while for releasing the docs. I think we might be able to move it to travis-ci.com and keep using it. I think it will consume very little mins.

The pulp/pulp_docker doesn't need any CI or any real task to perform, we can just let it die with the travis-ci.org. https://github.com/pulp/pulp\_docker/blob/2-master/.travis.yml

- Status changed from NEW to CLOSED - WONTFIX

We agreed today to run the docs build+push locally.
