Description

Try out any url, the collection doesn't even have to exist, and put "api" at the end and you'll get the /api endpoint. So collections named "api" will not properly return their metadata when requested. It's possible this also occurs for the /all endpoints as-well, but I haven't been able to produce it yet. Possibly need a collection named "all" in the distribution to check if it properly returns its metadata.
